Prayer

1 Peter 5:10 - "And after you have suffered a little while, the God of all grace, who has called you to his eternal glory in Christ, will himself restore, confirm, strengthen, and establish you."

- Let us not worry about things that are beyond our control or even worry about the temporary things of this world. Our future and eternity rests in His hands.
- May we find rest and assurance in Christ's mercy - God does not require perfection from us, as we could never obtain it. We simply need to seek a deeper relationship with God.
- Whatever afflictions we endured in the past and are enduring right now, God is faithful and will see us through it. His timing is beyond our understanding, and we have to practice patience even when we do not understand.

Prayer: Heavenly Father, we love you, and we extol you. We cannot begin to fathom the separation between our imperfection and your perfection, so we worship the Son for allowing us to know the joy of an intimate relationship with you. Even in the midst of our sufferings, teach us to seek you more, to rejoice in you, and to wait for your answer. Thank you for being the water that quenches our souls. Please protect us and be with us every moment of the day. In the Son's name we pray, Amen.

What has been the biggest challenge you were faced with during this life stage?

Feeling useless and incompetent during pharmacy rotations, and uncertain about my future. This ultimately goes back to the lack of trust in God, and just knowing that He is in ultimate control, and that He's greater than all my troubles.

Your top spiritual gift, and how you think God utilizes it:

My current spiritual gifts are mercy-showing and teaching. Sometimes I feel like I can relate to people and where they are coming from with their struggles so well to a point where I often end up thinking to myself if we can disregard the rules for just this one time... this goes to show that I need more training for God to really use my spiritual gifts for His glory, or they could easily end up becoming my spiritual weaknesses.

During this quarantine, what do you think God has been pressing on your heart?

He's still in control.

What has been the biggest challenge you were faced with during this life stage?

Ah college is such an interesting phase in life. I hate to have to say this, but a lot of things will change unexpectedly after college, your relationships, life goals, perspectives, etc. and the only thing that will really stay with you post-college is your personal growth and your relationship with the Lord. If you can, try to spend as much of your free time to fellowship with the Lord, and study His words. Surround yourself with solid, uplifting, and genuine spiritual friends that you can walk through this stage of life with! Be very happy! Finally, Proverbs 3:5-6!

My dream is...

To become a mom with four kids LOL, and maybe a bilingual medical writer or a medical science liaison in the pharmaceutical industry.
